

CDC Interim Guidance for Businesses, Employers and Community

Crum & Forster greatly values our customers and their dedication to operations during these difficult times. Information is key to the development of emergency preparedness programs.

Different parts of the country are seeing different levels of coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) activity. The United States nationally is currently in the initiation phases, but states where community spread is occurring are in the acceleration phase. The duration and severity of each phase can vary depending on the characteristics of the virus and the public health response.

This Plan, Prepare, and Response Interim Guidance is based on what is currently known about COVID-19. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) will update this interim guidance as needed and as additional information becomes available. Interim guidance may help prevent workplace exposures to acute respiratory illnesses, including COVID-19, in non-healthcare settings. The guidance also provides planning considerations if there are more widespread, community outbreaks of COVID-19.
